ACHESON WILL MAKE BID FOR ASIA BACKING

Secretary of State Believed Ready to Tell Nehru U. S. Will Not Bow to Aggression in Korea

TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Washington, July 18—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson was believed ready to tell Prime Minister Nehru today that the United States ardently wants peace in Asia but not at the price of bowing to Communist aggression in Korea. A carefully worded no-appearance reply to the Indian leader's peace approach to the United States and Russia was drafted for dispatch to New Delhi.

The State Department expected to make it public after a copy is handed also to Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Indian ambassador and Nehru's sister.

Madame Pandit yesterday gave Acheson a copy of a reply from Soviet Prime Minister Stalin, contending that the admission of Communist China into the UN is an essential step toward ending the Korean war. Nehru also called for the seating of Communist China, which has been recognized by India, and for the return of Russia to the Security Council.

In a second message to Stalin today, the Indian prime minister called the Russian reply "encouraging" and said he was contacting "the other governments concerned."

However, the United States and most of the non-Communist members of the United Nations were expected to insist on their previous condition that negotiation for a Korean settlement be preceded by a return of North Korean forces to their own territory north of the 38th parallel.

Advance indications were that Acheson, with the sanction of President Truman, would use the U. S. exchange with the Indian prime minister as a bid for the backing of Asia's millions for the United States and the United Nations. In drafting the reply, Acheson had the delicate problem of avoiding any peril of alienating Nehru and India without compromising the firm American "rock bottom" terms for settlement of the Korean crisis.

In responding to Nehru the State Department considered the unusual device of two notes or a single note plus a statement detailing the U. S. position. Because Nehru's note was brief and in general terms, diplomatic authorities said protocol demanded that the American reply likewise be brief but Acheson wanted to make full use of the opportunity to stress American and U. N. aims for the sake of world opinion.

WORKMAN KILLED

Pittsburgh, July 18—(P)—A tractor scoop struck and killed a 19-year-old workman on the western extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike near Center yesterday. The coroner's office said Edward Jackson, 19, of Blossburg died of a fractured skull.

President To Call For More Men, Money and Authority To Deal With Korean Situation

Washington, July 18—(P)—President Truman will call for more men, money and authority to deal with the Korea crisis tomorrow but, one congressional leader said, will not seek a tax increase.

The president set aside much of today for work on final drafts of his two Wednesday messages—a report to congress at 11 a. m., E.S.T., and a broadcast to the people at 9:30 p. m. E.S.T.

As pieced together from a dozen sources in the capital, Mr. Truman's requests to congress were expected to include:

An additional $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 in military spending authority.

Pittsburgh's Free Work Investigation Will Reopen Friday

Pittsburgh, July 18—(P)—City council reopens its free work investigation Friday with Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti in a starring role.

Council subpoenaed the new Pennsylvania state government official to explain remarks he made in court.

The city's lawmakers say the remarks reflect on their integrity in probing charges some city officials misused city labor.

In another free work development, a Philadelphia judge barred secret records bearing on Margiotti's failure to gain admittance to the Philadelphia bar in 1939.

The impounded document said Margiotti was barred because he failed to satisfy examiners that he was of "honest disposition."

Judge Joseph L. Kun released the records, he said, because "the very fact that it (the document) was impounded (kept secret) — (Turn to Page Five) —"

Civilian Defense Leaders Have Lesson In How To Handle Wartime Emergencies

Indianapolis, July 18—(P)—County civilian defense leaders from all parts of Pennsylvania came here today to get a first-hand demonstration of how to handle wartime emergencies.

Korean war developments prompted Gov. James H. Duff to hold the two-day briefing sessions at this military reservation several months ahead of the original date.

TRANSPORT CRASHES IN HIMALAYAN FOOTHILLS

New Delhi, India, July 18—(P)—Twenty-two persons, including five Americans, were killed yesterday in the crash of an Indian National Airways plane in the Himalayan foothills near Kashmir during a heavy rainstorm.

Canadian Brig. H. H. Angle of Kelowna, B. C., chief of the United Nations military observers in Kashmir, was one of the victims. U. S. Gen. Courtney Hodges, advisor to U. N. Kashmir Mediator Sir Owen Nixon, was scheduled to make the flight but cancelled his passage at the last minute.

The cause of the crash has not been determined. The DC-3 plane was missing for 12 hours before villagers found wreckage in a river bed near the town of Pathankot. It was on a non-stop flight from New Delhi to Srinagar, capital of Kashmir.

Important Election In Montana Today

Helena, Mont., July 18—(P)—Montana voters select nominees today for congressional, state and local offices.

Except where there are "hot" county contests, indications point to a light turnout in the state's off-year primary election.

There are 250,374 voters eligible to trim the field of 29 congressional-state candidates to those who will run in the general election Nov. 7. Then Montanans will elect two U. S. representatives, two state supreme court justices, state treasurer, state railroad-public service commissioner, 90 state representatives, 28 state senators, county officials and one district judge.

Neither Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont.) nor Rep. D'Ewart (R-Mont.) returned home to campaign for renomination, though both have opposition. The Korean war kept both in Washington.

DEBATE OPENS IN HOUSE ON ARMS AID ACT

Washington, July 18—(P)—Congressional demands for a "Pacific mutual defense pact along North Atlantic treaty lines piled up today as the house opened debate on the $1,222,500,000 arms aid bill.

Solid bipartisan support assured. Without question, passage of President Truman's request for second-year military assistance to the non-communist world when the bill comes to a final vote tomorrow.

Tagged "urgent" by Chairman Kee (D-W.Va.) of the house foreign affairs committee, the bill cleared the rules committee yesterday in record time.

Republicans as well as Democrats predicted there would be few, if any, votes cast against it. The bill passed the senate 66 to 9. House discussion of the measure was expected to center around what some members of both parties regard as a mandate for the U. S. to take the lead in setting up mutual defense assistance pact in the Pacific.

The house foreign affairs committee, in sending the arms aid bill to the floor, reported unanimous agreement to the Pacific proposal. Resolutions embodying the committee statement also have been introduced separately by members of both parties. The proposal was not incorporated in the senate and its backers say it was passed over only to avoid parliamentary delays on the arms bill at a time when the Korean crisis called for speed.

The arms bill sets aside $75,000,000 for use by the president in building up defenses against the spread of Communism in the general area of China—presumably such potential trouble spots as Indochina as well as Formosa.

Only $16,000,000 is provided for Korea and the Philippines. In view of actual fighting in Korea, however, this amount is largely academic as it relates to the extent of U. S. military help.

Fourth American Is Linked With Klaus Fuchs Spy Activity

New York, July 18—(P)—The fourth American allegedly linked to Russia's Klaus Fuchs atom spy ring was seized at his home here last night by the FBI.

He is 32-year-old Julius Rosenberg—a balding, bespectacled engineer, married and father of two children.

The Department of Justice charged him with conspiracy to commit espionage, and said he had recruited for a cloak-and-dagger Soviet spy apparatus that penetrated America's atomic secrets.

He was arraigned and held behind bars in lieu of $100,000 bail for a federal court hearing on July 31. His attorney insisted he was innocent.

Pittsburgh, July 18, (P)—Thomas, Manning, 67, of Pittsburgh walked from behind a parked car into the path of a truck yesterday. Police said he was killed instantly.

Wounded Americans Reported Massacred

An American Command Post in Korea, July 18—(P)—Thirty wounded American soldiers were reported tonight to have been shot to death on their litters by the North Koreans who swarmed across the Kum river Sunday night.

Two of those reported slain were mortar men who had held their mortar tubes in place by hand until their hands were burned and their arms broken.

This story was told tonight (Moore's dispatch was filed at 11:20 p. m. Tuesday—8:20 a. m. Tuesday, EST) by some of the men of the Nineteenth Regiment who were in the thickest of Sunday's battle.

The Reds' Sunday thrust forced the Americans back to new defense lines north of Taejon, which they still hold tonight.

WASTE FIRE—Warren firemen were called to the United Refining Plant on the East Side this morning when this blazing unit, used to burn off waste vapor from the cracking plant, ignited an oil scum on a sump. McCarthy's Charges Labeled "Fraud And Hoax" By Democrats on Committee

Washington, July 18—(P)—"A fraud and a hoax"—that's the label slapped on Republican Senator McCarthy's Communists-in-government charges by the Democratic majority of a senate investigating committee.

A report signed by all three Democrats on the committee—Senators Tydings (Md.), Green (RI) and McMahon (Conn.)—asserts that McCarthy used "the totalitarian technique of the big lie" in waging "perhaps the most nefarious campaign of half-truths and untruths in the history of this republic."

McCarthy retorted that the report of the Democrats is "gigantic in its fraud and deep in its deceit."

The Democrats' report, issued last night, was generally regarded at the capitol as one of the most scathing condemnations of a senator.

BULLETIN

Washington, July 18—(P)—The senate foreign relations committee voted 11 to 0 today to end the investigation of Republican Senator McCarthy's Communists-in-government charges. The action came after the Democratic majority of a foreign relations subcommittee, in a report had branded McCarthy's accusations "a fraud and a hoax."

The full committee, at what was described as one of the stormiest sessions the group ever held, also voted 9 to 2 to send the report of the subcommittee majority to the senate.

For ever made by colleagues. It accused McCarthy of having lied repeatedly.

The majority said McCarthy failed to prove any of his basic allegations, which were fired at scores of individuals in attacks directed at the State Department. McCarthy accused the department of harboring a lot of Communists, Red sympathizers, and people who were security risks on other grounds.

Evangeline Booth Dies at Age of 84

Hartsdale, N. Y., July 18—(P)—General Evangeline Booth, retired commander of the worldwide Salvation Army, died yesterday at the age of 84.

She had been ill for more than a year and spent the last few days before her death in a coma.

She was born in London on Christmas Day, 1865, the same year her father, General William Booth, founded the Army. She grew up with the organization and her lifetime almost exactly paralleled its growth. As a little child she followed her father's footsteps as he preached in the Limehouse and Whitechapel slums of London—and was preaching there herself when only in her teens.

Later she carried the Army's work into Canada and the United States. As head of the Army's Canadian division she led a mission to the Klondike gold rush camps in 1898. Later she became an American citizen and was leader of the Army in the United States for 30 years.

American Air Power Takes A Heavy Toll of Red Armor In Attacks Behind the Front Lines

By The Associated Press
Korean Front: U. S. 24th Division battles Communists "almost to a standstill" on Kum river front. Taejon still in American hands. Communists prepare for renewed attack. South Koreans dig in on central and east sectors.

Air war: American air power stops Red tanks from crossing Kum river, takes heavy toll of Communist armor. Light bombers strafe Red lines all the way back to Seoul. B-29s attack strategic targets behind the front.

Moscow: Russians publish Stalin-Nehru correspondence on proposed negotiations to end Korea war. Indian Prime Minister and Russian leader agree Communist China must be admitted to United Nations first.

Washington: Administration reported determined not to bow to Korean aggression in any negotiations, insisting Reds return to 38th parallel. President Truman drafts message asking wider powers in crisis.

London: Britain halts shipment of oil to Red China. London reports three incidents of sabotage against British warships.

By The Associated Press

Tokyo, July 18—(P)—American troops who blunted the Red North Korean drive at the Kum river stood between Taejon and the invaders tonight, ready for battle but finding no enemy troops approaching.

There was little action at the front. Artillery and United Nations planes struck wherever the enemy appeared.

BULLETIN

Tokyo, Wednesday, July 19—(P)—General MacArthur's Public Information Officer said early today the usual early-morning communiqué would not be issued because there had been no change in the Korean situation since yesterday afternoon's communiqué.

Taejon had been evacuated by advanced American field headquarters. The South Korean provisional government pulled out last week.

Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, who personally led an infantry column against a Red roadblock in Saturday's heavy fighting at the Kum, said the Communists had not been able to put their tanks across the river in force.

At a command post after four days at the front, Dean, commander of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division, said the Communists had not dented the new American positions north and west of the city of 150,000.

Pentagon Informed By the Far Eastern Headquarters Forces Holding the Line

Washington, July 18—(P)—Far Eastern headquarters has informed the Pentagon that "we are holding all along the line, including all forces, and the enemy pressure has slackened."

A briefing officer told reporters the message had arrived here this morning, apparently about 6 a. m. (EST).

However, he cautioned against interpreting these developments as a decisive turning point.

He was asked if this meant the "turning point has been reached?" "I think that is premature," the officer said.

"I don't think any evidence we have now shows that to be a fact."

The officer went on to say there has been a definite stiffening on the front, that there is more tactical fire by artillery, more air support and that the "plays are clicking better."

"But it takes time," he said, adding that "we are blunting the attacks."

The officer was asked why enemy pressure appears to be slackening—if there are reasons other than reduced supplies for the enemy columns.

He replied that the North Koreans are "taking terrific casualties." He commented also that "it takes an appreciable time before effects of strategic bombing begin to show" on supplies reaching the enemy front.

He said he had seen a news reference to the presence of only four enemy tanks. That, he said, "is a good sign." He said it might be that the enemy now is getting down toward the end of fuel for his tanks in the battle zone.

A Navy briefing officer said Allied ship bombardments along the South Korean east coast have made it "extremely unpleasant" for Communist sea traffic.

The officer saw significance in official reports that shelling by U. S. and British naval units was being carried out at the request of ground forces ashore. He said the liaison would result in increased effectiveness of naval gunfire.

Britain Stops All Oil Shipments To Communist China

London, July 18—(P)—A foreign office spokesman announced today Britain has stopped all oil shipments to Red China.

British services operating in the Far East decided to take over all stocks of oil there for their own uses. Their needs have increased due to operations undertaken in carrying out the United Nations Security Council resolution for bringing back peace to Korea, the spokesman said.

Britain earlier this month turned down an American suggestion that oil shipments to Red China be limited. The foreign office spokesman at that time said only oil for civilian consumption was going to Red China.

The spokesman said only one British company—Shell—has been selling oil to the Chinese Communists. In the first six months of this year, he said, total supplies amounted to 26,000 tons—less than a tenth of China's civilian requirements.

The spokesman added: "The question of the future supply of oil products to China has, however, become academic, since the British Service Departments (Army, Navy, Airforce), acting in terms of the United Nations Sec- (Turn to Page Five)

Rising Prices May Be Scrutinized By Senate Committee

Washington, July 18—(P)—Senatorial committees looked forward to investigations of the military effort and of sharply rising food prices today while congress awaited President Truman's mobilization blueprint for the Korean fighting.

In advance of a formal message to the lawmakers tomorrow, the president had assurances from legislative leaders of quick action on proposals he may lay down then.

These were expected to include authority to lift the military manpower ceiling, to curb credit and to parcel out scarce materials for war plants.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, predicted speedy passage of bills to put the president's program into effect, including an increase in military funds. Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said the house will act swiftly.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) said he is certain the Senate Armed Services Committee—launching an inquiry by a seven-member sub-group into military production needs—would back any rise Mr. Truman believes necessary in the authorized strength of the fighting forces.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) set out to prove with a Senate Banking Committee investigation beginning Thursday that there is plenty of food on hand in the country and that there is no need for rationing and no reason for price increases.

Woman Correspondent To Ask Review Of Order Directing Her to Leave Korea

Tokyo, Wednesday, July 19—(P)—War Correspondent Marguerite Higgins returned from Korea today with the announced intention of asking General MacArthur personally to let her go back to the battle zones.

The 30-year-old reporter for the New York Herald-Tribune repeated that she had been expelled from Korea by an 8th Army Headquarters order and contended she was being discriminated against because of her sex.

She was the only woman war correspondent in Korea. She hoped to take up her case with General MacArthur late today.

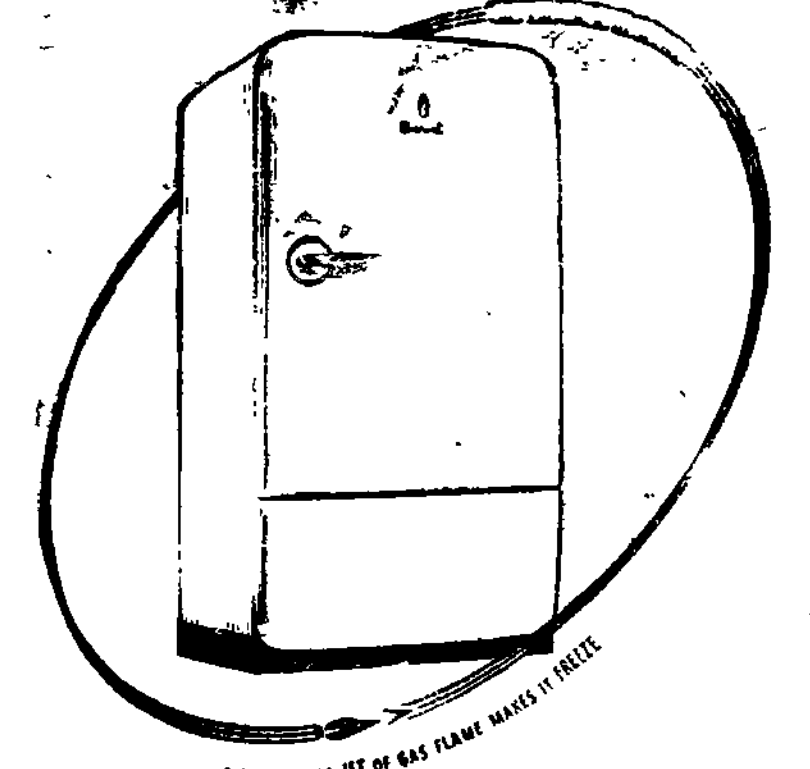

Miss Higgins announced in Korea yesterday that she had been ordered back to Tokyo under army escort but she came here without escort.

In New York, Whitelaw Reid, editor of the Herald-Tribune said, "We believe the decision to force her to return to Tokyo is wrong and unfair in view of the outstanding job of reporting she has done."

Reid expressed hope that the 30-year-old newspaperwoman would be allowed to continue her work. Reid praised Miss Higgins "for some of the best coverage of the war," and said he was shocked by the news that she had been ordered out of Korea.

Pouring of Cement Is Started On Road East of the Borough

First cement on the highway improvement project between Weldbank and Sheffield, was poured by the S. J. Groves Co., Monday. Workmen succeeded in pouring about 1,400 feet, but were held up today again by the threat of rain.

According to officials of the company about 100 men are employed on the job, all excepting the skilled workmen being furnished through the State Employment Office in Warren.

Rain again delayed the start of pouring cement on the Starbrick project, according to officials of the Baldwin Bros. Construction Company. It is expected with favorable weather this part of the project will be started Tuesday.

Pouring on the Sheffield contract was started on the eastern end of the highway. It was also announced that the road has been definitely closed to through traffic. Only residents of the area are permitted to pass the barricades to get to their homes.

SUMMER CEREMONIAL

A large number of Shriners from the Warren county area attended the annual summer ceremonial at Erie Saturday afternoon and evening.

EAGLES TO MEET

The regular business meeting of the Eagles Lodge will be held tonight at eight o'clock in the club rooms. A large attendance is hoped for as there is much important business to be discussed.

CO-ED SWIM TONIGHT

The regular weekly co-ed swim will be held at the "Y" from 8:00 to 9:30 o'clock tonight for persons 16 years of age and up. Chuck Webster, life guard, will be in charge of affair.

ROAD PLANS

Preliminary plans for the construction of 5.07 miles of road between North Warren and Chancellors Valley are under consideration by the State Highway Department. The project may be on the schedule for next summer's work in Warren county.

ERROR IN ITEM

A typographical error in the Monday issue gave the impression the Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed congregation had voted plans for church repairs. Instead, the plans presented by the committee were approved and the work is to be undertaken.

STEEL ARRIVES

The first load of steel to be used in repairing the Fifth avenue bridge has arrived in Warren. The bridge has been closed since a badly bent support girder was discovered about two months ago when the east end of the structure developed a noticeable sag. It is expected that repair work will begin about the end of July.

CHERRY PICKERS

More than sixty cherry pickers were on hand at seven o'clock Monday morning to go by bus from Corry to the North East orchards to assist in the harvest. As a result of the unusually large turnout approximately twelve had to be turned away because of lack of room in the bus which is transporting them daily to the orchards.

TRIBUTE FOR PRIEST—Many residents of Warren and vicinity are planning to attend memorial exercises in Lackawanna on Saturday, July 29, marking the 14th anniversary of the death of Rt. Rev. Nelson H. Baker (above.) Father Baker, as he is known to millions throughout the world, died on this date in 1936. He is buried at his own request alongside of his father and mother in Holy Cross cemetery adjacent to Our Lady of Victory Institutions which he founded and superintended for sixty years. Memorial services will consist of a Solemn Requiem Mass at 10 o'clock in the National Shrine and Basilica of Our Lady of Victory, followed by the customary procession to the grave of "The Padre of the Poor". Last year over 5,000 persons of all creeds and walks in life participated in the observance.

Sub-Committee of Children's Study Discusses Objective

The Warren county sub-committee of religion of the White House Conference on Children met at the YMCA last evening to discuss its field of work and how it could accomplish the objectives of the committee.

Questions were formulated which will be incorporated in a general questionnaire of the county committee to go out late this week.

Those present at last night's meeting were Mrs. Paul Harmon, James L. Hess, Jr., Ernest Kaebnick, Frank A. Kehrl, Mrs. John A. Mullaup, Mrs. Ralph E. Sires, Charles Sires and Mrs. A. R. Schultz, all of Warren; Miss Mary J. Richwaleky, Mrs. Evelyn P. Gaulor and Joseph D. Benson of Sheffield.

Dan K. Walton, chairman of the committee, was in charge of the meeting and was requested to call another meeting as soon as replies from the questionnaire were received.

Many Vacancies For Enlistments

In spite of the tremendous number of recent enlistments in the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force, many vacancies still exist for eligible young men who wish to select their branch of service, it was announced today by Cpl. Robert Beach, of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

Cpl. Beach added that young men who are inducted into the Armed Services will be assigned to any of the branches as military needs may dictate, while those enlisting voluntarily may, if qualified enlist specifically for the U. S. Air Force, or various branches of the Army such as Airborne, Coast Artillery, Infantry, Field Artillery, Corps of Engineers or Armored Cavalry.

Cpl. Beach further stated that full details can be secured by contacting the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station at the Post Office, room 207, here in Warren.

Original bolts in the USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides," were made in Paul Revere's shop, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Night Navigation On Chaut. Lake Is Subject of Meeting

Jamestown—Chautauqua county through the lakes committee of the board of supervisors, headed by George Fischer of Chautauqua, stepped into the traffic and safety enforcement picture on Chautauqua Lake.

A special meeting of the committee, with the Chautauqua County Navigation Commission and county officials, has called for Tuesday night at Hotel Jamestown to draft immediate and drastic regulations to control motor boat travel after dark and seek ways to eliminate such hazards as old splings, which are causing lake accidents.

Serving with Mr. Fischer on the supervisors' committee are Supervisors Ray O. Jones of Sherman; Florian G. Spoden of Fredonia; Earl Monroe of Dunkirk; T. N. Nelson of Jamestown and Robert Tanner of Stockton. The six-man navigation commission, which has complete authority on all lakes of the county, will be asked by the county officials to immediately announce speed regulations after dark and enforce them, even to the extent of revoking licenses of those found guilty of violations in the future.

Attending the meeting will be County Attorney Allen E. Cass and other officials.

Mr. Nelson, who also is captain of the steamer City of Jamestown, said at yesterday's meeting of the board of supervisors that so many complaints have been received from fishermen, cottage owners, motor boat owners and others that immediate action on several matters involving lake traffic and safety is needed. The new navigation commission has complete authority to act, he said.

SUGAR GROVE

Methodist WSCS members held their annual picnic-meeting at the home of Mrs. Delmar Mickelson, the rain keeping the group indoors for the one o'clock luncheon. The president, Mrs. Richard Atkins, conducted the business session, with Mrs. Reuben Dyke giving the devotion and an informal discussion of race relations following. Mrs. Paul Carlberg, Jr., related some interesting experiences along those lines from her work as visiting nurse. Mrs. Gertrude Launstein, Leslie, Mich., was a guest. The next meeting will be a union gathering in August, with the following as the committee: Mrs. W. C. Barlow and Mrs. Hobart Sanders, for the Methodist church; Mrs. Allan Frank and Mrs. Guy Summerson, Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Hallie Groves, of Warren, is spending some time at her home on the Warren road and has as her guests her son, Robert E. Groves, and wife and daughter, Dianne, from San Bernardino, Calif. Another son, Sgt. Kenneth Groves, serving with the U.

S. Army in Germany, is en route home from a furlough. His German-born wife and child received their passports too late to accompany him to the United States.

Janice, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Peterson, is seriously ill with a throat infection following the mumps, and was taken to a Jamestown hospital Friday.

Carol Nichols, Sebring, Fla., is the guest of Mrs. Catherine Carr. Mrs. Ray Powers is ill at her home on Dalrymple Hill.

LANDER

A family picnic was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mertens, Town Line road, when the present were Mr. and Mrs. P. N. IMPROVED COOKING THROUGH USING HOMOGENIZED MILK

For cooking, Homogenized Milk has many advantages over regular milk. It improves the texture of custards and puddings. Makes them more delicious, too. The loss and annoyance of having the "cream" scum when the milk reaches the boiling point, is avoided.

Also there is less tendency for the milk to curdle in using it with vegetables; and there is no coating of utensils when the milk is heated. It makes gravies and soups of improved texture and flavor.

The "creamier" flavor of Homogenized Milk makes it more enjoyable for use on cereals, either hot or cold.

Director Clarifies Important Point in Rent Controls

Clearing up a point that he said has caused some misunderstanding, Frank S. Anderson, area rent director, stated today that if a community declares that federal rent control shall continue after December 31 of this year, by the methods provided in the new 1950 rent law, the federal government will continue to administer the local rent control program, through the rent office as now established.

"The fact that the new federal rent law requires community action to retain rent control after the end of the year has led to some misunderstanding that control after December 31 would have to be municipally administered," said the rent official.

He explained that the affirmative action required by the new law if federal control is to extend beyond December 31 may be taken either by the local council or by popular referendum under local law, before December 31. Also, he pointed out that provisions for local decontrol at any time by the state or local government, by local rent advisory board recommendation or by Housing Expediter initiative continue under the new law.

Anderson said the federal rent law has been extended for one year from July 1, 1950, with the "affirmative action" provision which permits communities to continue federal control after December 31, if they choose. Lacking such "affirmative action" before that date, federal rent control ends in the community which fails to act on December 31.

He added that the Erie rent office is busy carrying on the administration of rent controls here under provisions of the new law, which continue substantially as they were before the right and obligations of tenants and landlords under the control act.

Field Day Is Set At Columbus Farm For August Second

Area potato growers are making big plans for a potato field day which is expected to attract producers, agricultural specialists and the public to the F. L. Dodd and Son farm near Columbus on Wednesday, August 2nd.

One of the highlights will be the appearance of the Pennsylvania Potato Blossom Queen who will be the guest of honor. She is Miss Donna Mae Gooderhan of Patton in Cambria county.

Any girl whose father or brothers have five or more acres of potatoes under cultivation is eligible to participate in the contest which will result in the naming of the queen's court.

Other attractions for the all-day meeting will be displays of farm machinery which will be set up by at least 18 firms. A ditch digging demonstration is planned while the experimental plot on the Dodd farm, where 35 seedling varieties are being tested, is also expected to be one of the big attractions.

At noon a luncheon will be served by members of the Columbus fire department.

Among those who are expected to attend and participate in the afternoon program are Hugh McPherson, president of the Pennsylvania Potato Growers, and director of the state co-operative; Dr. E. L. Nixon, world famous potato specialist; S. S. Westrick, K. R. Slamp of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Markets; R. B. Donaldson of the Pennsylvania State Extension Service; Deputy Secretary of Agriculture W. S. Hager and others.

In the evening a meeting of the board of directors of the State Potato Growers Association will be held in the Hotel Corry.

Red Cross Chapter Complimented For Bloodmobile Visit

The Warren County American Red Cross Chapter was highly complimented by Buffalo Blood Center officials in a report received following the bloodmobile visit here July 12.

In the report it was pointed out that local volunteers were excellent and a delicious meal was served. Buffalo representatives also mentioned that all chapter personnel was very gracious and hospitable. The names of these Warren people who serve under the volunteer special services chairman, Mrs. R. W. Steber, are as follows:

Canteen—Mrs. Mable Alexander, Mrs. Helen Fino, Mrs. Julia Finest, Meredith Hutchings, Mrs. Marion Kinkead, Mrs. Patricia Smith, Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Lewis;

Gray Ladies—Mrs. Edith Dawson, Mrs. Mary Buerkle, Mrs. Ethel Ledebur, Mrs. Margaret Lewis and Mrs. Gertrude Lundahl; staff aides—Mrs. Martha Crosssett, Mrs. Helena Goldstein, Mrs. Ruth Wade and Mrs. Vera Morgan; Nurse Aides—Mrs. Mary Deardoff, Mrs. Carolyn Hubbs, Mrs. Viola McLaughlin, Mrs. Betty Proud, Mrs. Esther Sontag and Mrs. Helen Walker.

Out of town visitors also commented that a great deal of effort was put forth by recruitment to make a very successful day. Miss Anne DeFrees and Miss Mary Craft, as members of that committee, devoted hours to the cause. Sufficient help to load and unload the bloodmobile was provided by members of Warren's Fire Department. On deck were Chief Charles Albaugh, Hartwell Willey, Ernie Springer and Ralph Dalrymple. Boy Scouts who served were Randy Johnson, David Lindberg and Bob Bannan.

Blood program chairman, Howard Lauffenberger, thanks all of these people for a good job well done.

The Secretary of Labor is now authorized to sue for back wages due workers under the Fair Labor Standards Act, under certain circumstances, if the workers give their written consent.

CONGRESS AND STATEHOOD BILLS

Notwithstanding the Korean war, Congress is still planning to go home August 1. This being an election year the intention is understandable; but it is hardly wise or practical.

With every passing day it becomes clearer that the war in Korea is not to be a brief affair. Already President Truman is seeking more money to wage it. Even if the fighting doesn't spread to other areas, he may want to come in at any time with requests for still more money, controls on the civilian economy, more extensive manpower mobilization.

Moreover, the new demands thus far submitted are causing congressional leaders to condense their schedule and squeeze out legislation that deserves attention at this session.

A prime example is afforded by the House-approved bills providing statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. Recently these measures were endorsed by the Senate Interior Affairs Committee. Chances of ultimate enactment are strong right now.

Much congressional time and taxpayers' money already has been spent in advancing the statehood proposals thus far. They've been kicking around Capitol Hill for years and this is the closest they have ever come to final adoption.

It would be not only a foolish waste but a toying with the country's security to let this legislation die at this point. Both Hawaii and Alaska are vital defense outposts in the Pacific, the area most immediately threatened by the Korean war. Were the two territories woven more tightly into the national fabric, the likelihood is they'd get better protection.

General Eisenhower and many others have called attention to the weakness of Alaskan defenses. Hawaii is better off, but hardly in ideal shape.

Senators don't want to take the bills up because they're controversial and debate would be long. What this really means is that Congress is taking a politics-as-usual approach to the Korean war, and simply doesn't wish to spoil its plans for getting back home to begin campaigning.

Naturally nobody likes to have his plans upset. Our armed forces fighting in Korea undoubtedly were happier living the relatively soft life of occupation troops in Japan. But they had no choice. And if Congress wants to measure up in this emergency, its course of duty is also plain.

Let the lawmakers recess for several weeks in September and October when the hot campaigning develops. But otherwise they ought to stick to their posts.

MUST EXACT LAWFUL VENGEANCE

The war in Korea is less than a month old, but already we've had the first report of atrocities committed against American soldiers. Knowing the contempt for human life which Communists display everywhere, we really shouldn't be surprised. The Reds live by a creed of brutality.

It will not always be easy for our own men to resist the temptation to reply in kind. War breeds brutality, and soldiers who see their comrades murdered cannot help but boil with indignation.

Yet the answer to any crimes the North Koreans may commit lies in a different realm. World War II set the pattern. We must document these atrocities carefully and completely. The guilty enemy soldiers must be found and brought to justice in the same fashion as were the Nazi and Jap war criminals.

The lessons of the German and Japanese war crimes trials apparently have not been taken to heart by the Communists. We shall have to instruct them, personally. This we must now resolve to do. And we must inform them over and over again, by radio and leaflet, what fate awaits the man who descends to such levels.

The Council committee in charge of compiling an official list of Warren County men and women who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II has discovered that many names carried in the article Monday were not from Warren county, but relatives of local residents. It is requested that persons having information regarding such casualties make a note of same on the coupon printed for the purpose and mail them in.

Unfavorable weather continues to delay completion of important highway projects under way this summer in Warren county. According to reports the Baldwin Construction Company planned to start pouring on the Starbrick stretch Monday, but rain interfered. The S. J. Grove Company, however, started pouring cement on a stretch between Weldbank and Sheffield.

We Can Think of Better Ways to Spend a Summer Day

Here And There

It's a tougher campaign in Korea than any one dreamed, and The Associated Press is expanding its staff operations to assure intensive news and picture coverage of the biggest story since World War II—a story that is flaming in the Western Pacific and echoing with repercussions 'round the world. Reinforcements have been assigned to join the staff doing so nobly on the Korean front and in Tokyo, the Times-Mirror is informed. Other Associated Press men have been deployed in sensitive areas elsewhere in the world to be on the alert for all news developments. Hal Boyle, Pat Morin and Don Whitehead are heading for the Korean scenes of action—Boyle and Whitehead are en route, Morin follows soon. Times-Mirror readers will remember them: Three musketeers of hot war coverage if ever there were. Boyle, the former Kansas City office boy whose stories of GI Joe in the African and European campaigns of the last war and peace-time daily columns won tremendous applause —and a Pulitzer prize. Whitehead, his old World War II sidekick, who made more assault landings and saw perhaps more ugly front line combat than any other war correspondent—from North Africa to the Omaha beach landing in Normandy on "D" Day, and on to surrender in Europe... It was Whitehead whose lightning 1600-word description of the liberation of Paris in 1944 was called one of the classics of the war's journalism. . . . And Morin, the man who looks like Ike Eisenhower and writes with a gifted flair for descriptive touches that take readers right to the scene. One-time Tokyo bureau chief and Far Eastern correspondent, Morin was captured by the Japanese and interned in Indochina for the first year of World War II. Thereafter he joined the frontline staffs, in the Mediterranean and in Europe, became Paris chief of bureau after the war and returned to the United States for a similar assignment in Washington.

Had an interesting chat with a newcomer to Warren Monday afternoon in the person of Dr. Lee J. Berger, pediatrician, who opened an office in the Wetmore building, 209 Second avenue, today. Dr. Berger, a native of DuBois, comes to Warren after finishing five years of specialized training in pediatrics, three of which were at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Dr. Berger's family, including his wife and three children, Patricia, Lee and Mary Frances are residing at 201 Fourth avenue, during their brief residence here, have already decided that "Warren is a swell place to settle down in."

This And That: Howard Lindell, of the New York State Archaeological Association, mentioned in stories concerning the finding of bones of an Indian near Akeley on the Kiantone road, is a son of Roy Lindell, of Lander. He's spending a two-weeks vacation exploring around Akeley and studying the remains found on the Virgil Williams farm. . . . Baseball players and fans are still talking about a "circus catch" made by Dean Whitaker, playing left field for the National Forge in the Saturday game with Pleasantville at the State Hospital. The speedy Forge fielder in one of the early innings chased a long fly almost to the spectator seats in left field, and made a one-hand catch still running in the direction of the main building. . . . Louis Geigerich, son of Ambrose Geigerich, Morrison street, who with his family is visiting Warren relatives and friends, came here from Washington and Virginia where they visited George Geigerich and family. Louis says that Gerald Geigerich, former local baseball star, currently is playing with three teams in and around Washington, D. C. They are Rockville, Md., Fredericksburg, Va., and the Huerfano Brewers in Washington, national amateur champions. . . . In spite of the rain we are told eighty enthusiastic members attended the picnic of the Warren County Council of Republican Women held Thursday of last week at the Smith cottage along the Conewango at Akeley. The event was topped off with a delicious tureen dinner, but the highlight of the event was the talk by Mrs. Helen Schluraff, of Erie, who discussed at length the registration campaign that will be staged by the state council. It was interesting to learn that the Warren unit is the largest new council in the state. The next meeting will be another picnic gathering at the Loper farm on Miller Hill. . . . W. H. Rankin, a shut-in who lives at Tionesta, will be feasting on a gallon of ice cream, sent him by Rosey Rowsell while broadcasting the Pirate-Giant game at Forbes Field last Saturday. . . . The Erie conference of the Methodist church will hold its 115th annual meeting in Meadville from September 6 to 10, on the Allegheny College campus and at the Stone Methodist church. Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, of Pittsburgh will preside. . . . Donald Vicini, of Weldbank, is making quite a reputation for himself as a breeder of registered Angora rabbits. According to all reports Donald carries on the project as a hobby. Four pure white does and a buck from the Grinstead Farms at Edwardsville, Ill., just received, are attracting much attention from visitors.

Background Given of New AEC Chairman and Commissioners

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Behind President Truman's appointment of 44-year-old lawyer Gordon Dean as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission there is an interesting background. It deals with how the AEC has been getting on with its work in what has been called its "radioactive squirrel cage."

Aside from two years in U. S. Naval Intelligence service, Gordon Dean's 20-year career has been entirely in the legal profession. He has been law professor, Department of Justice attorney, public relations man for Justice Robert H. Jackson in prosecuting Nazis at the Nuremberg trials.

From 1940 to 1943 Mr. Dean was in private law practice in Washington. He was a partner of Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut, chairman of the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. Senator McMahon naturally supported Dean's original appointment to the commission in May 1949 and his elevation to the chairmanship. The Atomic Energy Commission can use good legal talent. Its first chairman, David E. Lilienthal, was educated as a lawyer. But he had some years in engineering and public administration on Tennessee Valley Authority before he was made head of AEC.

Chairman Dean's background had no scientific or engineering experience until he was appointed to AEC by President Truman.

THE first year of any AEC member's time is spent largely in finding what it's all about. For instance, New York engineer and industrialist Thomas E. Murray, appointed to the commission last March, has spent nearly all his time since then in visiting AEC's many installations.

Of the other commission members, Dr. Henry DeWolf Smyth, author of the Smyth report, is a scientist serving a one-year term. Sumner T. Pike, industrialist and financier, is senior member of the commission, and has just been confirmed for a new four-year term.

As chairman, Dean is expected to produce smoother relations with Congress, and with the armed services.

Former Chairman Lilienthal and Vice Chairman Pike have chafed a good bit under both. They felt that reporting to the Atomic Energy, Appropriations, Military Affairs and even Un-American Activities Committees took so much time it handicapped their work on developing the atomic energy program itself.

Also, both Lilienthal and Pike had strong views on keeping AEC a civilian agency and concentrating on development of civilian uses of atomic energy. Chairman Dean is expected to go along a little closer with Department of Defense ideas.

CHAIRMAN DEAN'S several speeches of the past year—which he has written himself—have revealed no startlingly new ideas. He has analyzed the four main problems of the Atomic Energy Commission as follows: 1. Civilian vs. military control. 2. Greater secrecy vs. declassification of scientific knowledge. 3. Concentration on peacetime or military applications of atomic energy. 4. Government monopoly vs. private industrial development.

He is regarded in Washington as a career official whose ambition to make a good record may overcome any lack of capacity for one of the biggest jobs in government.

As a matter of fact, the atomic energy program is now so extensively mapped out for the next few years that a lot of new ideas may not be required. More than at any other time in its short four-year history, the principal work of the Atomic Energy Commission is to carry out the policies and blueprints already on its books.

Nothing that has happened in recent months caused more profound sorrow in the community than the tragic death of Ray Ahearn, chief pilot of the Red Wing Flying Service, who lost his life yesterday at Teterboro, N. J., trying to make an outside loop in a foreign-made plane that is said not to have been approved by the Department of Commerce. About fifteen hundred people took flights with Ahearn during his stay in Warren the past week and all were thrilled by his daring manipulation of the plane.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. D. N. Thomas, district

Why Yanks Got a Kicking Around In Korea --

Red tanks, shrouded by fog and rain, punch down a main road.

North Korean troops, undoubtedly under Russian instruction, have consistently used a technique of tank warfare that repeatedly smashed the Americans' lines, scattered the defenders like marbles kicked by an angry boy and sent them reeling in retreat. It was successful largely because the Communists outnumbered the Americans and Red armor and artillery were superior to anything opposed to them. These sketches illustrate the three phases of the Communists' tank-spearheaded attack. First the Reds bring up anywhere from 10 to 30 tanks under cover of darkness. They're American positions are overrun before Yanks know what hit them.

40-ton nasties mounting rapid-firing 76 or 88-mm. guns capable of smashing a U. S. 105-mm. gun emplacement like a hammer on an egg. The tanks, assembled behind a ridge if possible, then punch straight through along a main road—preferably in foggy or rainy weather, when the American air force is blind. The punch is like a six-inch left hook—so sudden the Americans' positions are overrun before they know what is happening. And too late for the air force to strike. Yank officers report: "They split my company before we could get into the fight." And "When the sun came out there were eight of their tanks right in front of us." After the tanks have crashed through, the North Korean infantry leap from trucks and proceed to envelop the Americans. Frequently fog blindfolds the defenders, enabling the infiltrating Communists to infest defense positions. In these early attacks, it was a story of too few with too little against too many with too much. When enough reinforcements in man-power and fire-power can be brought into the fight, the dark page of the Korean war's introduction can turn to disclose a brighter chapter.

APARTMENT PROJECT ENCOUNTERS DELAY

Additional legal steps are now being taken in clearing the way for actual start of construction on a 50-unit apartment building on the H. R. Fisher property at 209 Market street.

Arthur S. Storm, of Bradford, who holds on the Fisher plot and also on the H. P. Stone property at 205 Third avenue, is forming a Warren corporation to build the apartment. The step is required by law to compete with FHA regulations.

McCarthy's Charges Are Labeled "Fraud and Hoax"

Republican Senator Lodge of Massachusetts got out a minority report saying the inquiry into McCarthy's charges "must be set down as superficial and inconclusive." He said there remain "a tangle of loose threads" and "leads which were not followed up."

Lodge also declared the tone of the investigation, as set by the Democrats, too frequently lacked impartiality, and the atmosphere "too often was one of trying to hang someone rather than to ascertain the truth."

The other Republican on the committee, Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, filed no report but said he is in general accord with Lodge's ideas, "particularly the emphasis on the complete inadequacy of the inquiry."

President to Call for More Men, Money and Authority of the entire program of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Debate was scheduled to open today in the house on the $1,222,500,000 foreign military aid bill, which cleared the senate without a dissenting vote.

Despite the general trend toward emergency action, the prospect of harsh federal controls in the near future abated somewhat.

Mr. Truman's manpower requests, as described by one administration source, will not include a call for mobilization now of any of the 27 National Guard divisions. But it will cover these demands, he said:

1. Increasing the legal strength of the army by 160,000 above the present limit of 387,000.

2. Adding 60,000 more men to the authorized strength of the navy, now 666,882.

3. A possible increase in the 502,000-man air force.

American Air Power Takes Heavy Toll of Red Armor

In Korea reported all American lines intact in the area. The Eighth Army spokesman credited the 24th Division with having fought the Reds "almost to a standstill."

The Reds were reported pouring reinforcements across the Kum River. They wrested a foothold there by sheer manpower from the thin line of Americans in the Kongju area, 20 miles northwest of Taejon. But the spokesman at Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said only four North Korean tanks had been reported south of the river.

So quiet were the Reds, MacArthur's communique said, that the outnumbered, battle weary 24th Division sent out patrols in an effort to find out the enemy's movements.

MacArthur's communique at 2:35 p. m. (11:35 p. m. EST Monday) said "no change has been reported during last night or early today along the EUSAK-SK (Eighth U. S. Army in Korea-South Korean) front line positions as far as pressure from the Communist invaders is concerned."

Associated Press Correspondent William R. Moore reported from the battle zone that air power appeared to be slowing the Red drive at Taejon.

Far East Air Force headquarters said tank-busting fighters were sweeping the battle area in good weather. In a special communique covering operations up to 2 p. m. (11 p. m. EST, Monday) FEAF added three tanks and 25 trucks to Monday's bag of 21 tanks and 143 trucks. The Monday totals were in a communique issued at 1:25 p. m. (9:25 p. m. EST, Monday).

The South Korean first corps, holding the front on the eastern side of the Americans around Taejon, have reorganized their defensive positions, MacArthur said.

The secret document entered the free work probe when Mayor David L. Lawrence made reference to it while calling Margiotti unfit to serve as attorney general.

Pittsburgh councilman Patrick T. Fagan moved the free work hearings be reopened. He quoted Margiotti as saying:

"The mayor was asleep, city council was asleep, the D.A. was asleep—everybody was sleeping but Charley."

Fagan also criticized Margiotti for saying that Lawrence and council had decided in advance what action they would take in the free work case.

Start Proceedings Against U. E. Chiefs

Washington, July 16—(P)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today began contempt of congress proceedings against two top officials of the United Electrical Workers Union and five other persons.

Meeting behind closed doors, the committee voted unanimously to ask the house to cite James J. Matles, national U. E. organizational secretary, and Julius Emshak, national U. E. secretary-treasurer.

In addition to Matles and Emshak, the committee voted to ask contempt citations against the following:

Thomas Quinn, a U. E. organizer in the Pittsburgh area.

Thomas J. Fitzpatrick, chief steward of the U. E. Local #301, Pittsburgh area.

Talmadge Raley, business agent of a Cincinnati U. E. local.

David H. Levison, Cincinnati business man.

Frank Hashmall, also of Cincinnati.

This brings to 57 the number of persons the committee has started contempt proceedings against in recent months.

The CIO this year kicked out the United Electrical Workers Union on the grounds it followed the Communist party line instead of CIO policies.

Fourth American Is Linked With Fuchs Spy Activity

"Rosenberg is another important link in the Soviet espionage apparatus," FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington, where the arrest was announced.

In the past two months the government has arrested three other Americans it says were implicated in the spy ring headed by Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the German-born Communist sympathizer who worked his way to the top of Britain's atomic program.

Fuchs confessed and now is serving a long prison term in England.

The three Americans seized as a result of Fuchs' disclosures were Harry Gold, a Philadelphia biochemist; Alfred Dean Slack, a scientist, of Syracuse, N. Y.; and David Greenglass, a New York machinist and former U. S. army sergeant.

All were charged with wartime espionage—a charge that can mean the death penalty.

MOOSE MEETING

Over 150 members attended a special meeting of the Warren Lodge of Moose held last evening, which was addressed by Gordon Jeffrey, Mooseheart governor. Following the session a fish fry and social time was enjoyed. Mr. Jeffrey will be the speaker at a similar meeting to be held this evening in Kane, which will be attended by several from Warren including Eugene Simmons, governor, and Walter Kisor, secretary. A life membership given away at last evening's meeting went to Mr. Simmons.

TRAFFIC FATALITY

Waynesburg, July 16—(P)—Fred Brown, 67, was killed by a coal truck as he started across a busy intersection on Route 88 near his home at Mapletown yesterday.

THE MARKETS

New York, July 18—(P)—Buyers lifted key stocks as much as $1 or so a share today. Brokerage quarters credited the market's improvement in part to latest reports from Korea, which indicated U. S. troops were making a valiant stand. Auto shares were among the most popular. These stocks have been particularly hard pushed in a recent series of selling drives. General Motors, Chrysler and Studebaker were all marked up.

Nancy E. Swanson Is Friday Bride of John L. MacBride

Winners Announced In Russell WCTU Contest

At 2 p. m. Friday, July 14, in Trinity church at Collegeville, Nancy E. Swanson became the bride of John L. MacBride in a ceremony performed by the Rev. A. L. Cragger.

The young people are children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Swanson, 205 Fourth avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. MacBride, 211 Fourth avenue, with both couples in attendance at the wedding.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. William R. MacBride, Norristown, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Other guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Donald N. Hindle, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harper, Ardmore; Mrs. Carlos Lynes, Philadelphia.

The bride, graduate of Warren High School in 1949 and of the Franklin School of Science and Arts in Philadelphia in March, 1950, has been employed as a medical technician at Warren General Hospital but will take up new duties at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Norristown.

Mr. MacBride was graduated in 1946 from Springfield, Pa., High School and served one year with the Army of Occupation in Japan. At present a summer school student at Temple University, he will be a senior this fall at Ursinus College, majoring in psychology. They will live at The Commercial House, Collegeville.

Doris Heimann and Max R. Lewis Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Heimann, 131 Parker street, announce the marriage of their eldest daughter, Doris, to Max R. Lewis, son of Mrs. Raymond Lewis, 217 Lincoln street, Jamestown, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed Thursday, July 13, in the First Mission Covenant church, Jamestown, the Rev. Paul Peterson officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodwill were the attendants.

Following a short motor trip, the newlyweds will live at 217 Lincoln street, Jamestown.

The bride, graduate of Warren High School in 1946 and of the WCA Hospital School of Nursing, is serving on the hospital staff.

Mr. Lewis, veteran of World War II, was previously employed at the Jamestown post office and expects to return there soon.

Girls Should Be Prepared To Live in a Man's World

A NEW YORK high school principal has come out in favor of "feminizing" the high school education of girls. She would give them a heavy dose of home economics courses rather than have them take the kind of curriculum which is all right for boys.

It seems to make sense until you stop to realize that the girls are going to live in a man's world, too. A great many of them are going to have to compete with men for the jobs they get and hold.

It's all very fine for Mary Jones to graduate from high school with a knowledge of how to cook, run a home and look after children.

That is, it's fine if Mary Jones happens to get a husband while she's still just a girl and manages to hang onto him—separated by neither death nor divorce—for the rest of her days. And if, of course, her husband is able to make a living for Mary and any children they may bring into the world.

But those are an awful lot of "ifs." Suppose Mary doesn't find a husband or that she finds one she can't hang onto? Or suppose her husband finds he can't support a family without her help?

Suppose she needs something to go on? Then what is Mary going to do with her "feminized" education—walk into an employer's office and tell him what good pies she can bake and how much she knows about "family oriented cultural subjects?"

No, the woman who is prepared for nothing but home-making today faces a mighty insecure future. It was enough for Grandma but it isn't enough for Granddaughter.

Just as more and more women are coming to find it necessary to play two roles in life, paid worker and home-maker. So it becomes more and more necessary to educate girls both for a "man's world" and for a "woman's world."

If that sounds like too big an educational load for our girls to carry, just stop and think how many women have to carry a double load without the proper training for both.

Counting Many Candles

Mrs. Pauline Hammar, 203 Mill street, Sheffield, is receiving best wishes today from a wide circle of friends and acquaintances on the occasion of her 88th birthday anniversary. Born in Sweden on July 18, 1862, and the widow of August Hammar, she has been a resident of Sheffield for the past 65 years. Clara Hammar, who is director of nurses at Warren General Hospital and one of six children, five daughters and a son, resides with her. She also has eight grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren. Mrs. Hammar enjoys excellent health for one of her age, enjoys crocheting and knitting, and keeps up with news of the day through extensive reading and her radio. A small family dinner was held in her honor last evening, but a further celebration of her milestone is planned in August, when all of her family can be present.

Women Golfers Tangle On Titusville Course

Mrs. John Haskell, of Wanango Club, had low gross for the field with an 82 for the Northwestern Pennsylvania Women's Golf Association match played on the Titusville course. Mrs. W. C. Fuellhart, runner-up in this year's Conewango Valley Country Club championship on Saturday, had the lowest putts, with only 25.

Division One low net of 83 was a three-way tie between Mrs. W. O. Lawson, who won the local women's title Saturday; Mrs. John Hanson, Warren, and Mrs. McWilliams, of the Kahkwa Club of Erie.

Second low net in the same division was also a tie, with Mrs. Cox of Wanango, Mrs. Berry of Wanango, and Mrs. Fleming of Titusville all holding an 84.

In Division Two, Mrs. McCain of Kahkwa was first with a net 78; Mrs. H. E. Thompson, of the Erie Club, was second with an 83, and Mrs. Thomas Johnson, of Lawrence Park in Erie, was third with an 85.

BLUE STOCKING PARTY

Members of Blue Stocking Club were entertained by their president, Mrs. Leon Johnson, at her summer home on Lake Chautauqua for a delightful picnic and outing. Following the supper, Miss Edith Carlin gave a very interesting description of her year in Paris, where she recently completed work for her master's degree at the Sorbonne. Mrs. Lucille Wade Williams, Pottstown, was a guest of the club.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

HERE'S a pleasant summer picnic—an off-again heat-resistant glass utility dish filled with pineapple cherry cobbler. And on top of each individual cobbler goes a large scoop of bulk ice cream. Interested?

Pineapple Cherry Cobbler a la Mode
(Serves 6)

One quart vanilla ice cream (bulk), 6 slices canned pineapple, 2 cups canned pitted sour cherries, drained; ½ cup chopped nut meats, 2 cups sifted flour, ½ cup sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt, ¼ cup butter, ½ cup milk, 1 egg, beaten.

Place ice cream in freezing compartment of the refrigerator until ready to use. Arrange pineapple slices and cherries in a buttered 2-quart heat-resistant glass utility dish. Sprinkle with chopped nut meats.

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Cut butter into flour mixture until particles are the size of small peas. Combine milk and beaten egg. Stir into flour mixture mixing just enough to dampen the dry ingredients. Pat dough out lightly on a floured board about ¼-inch thick. Cut into 6 rounds with a 3-inch biscuit cutter.

Place rounds on top of cherries in approximately the same position as the pineapple slices. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour. When serving, invert each serving so that the biscuit is on the bottom. Top with a large scoop of ice cream.

Apple Cheese Crisp
(Serves 5)

Five cups sliced apples, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese, ½ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup uncooked oatmeal, ¼ cup butter. Arrange apple slices in a greased 10-inch heat-resistant glass fluted edge pie plate. Pour lemon juice over apples. Combine cheese, sugar, spices, salt, oatmeal and shortening; mix thoroughly. Spread over apple slices. Bake about 50 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve hot or cold.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, bacon omelet, toasted English muffins, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Toasted cheese sandwiches, grated carrot and cabbage salad, blueberry cup cakes, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Breaded pork tenderloin, fried apple rings, potato souffle, buttered snap beans, enriched bread, radishes, scallions, pineapple cherry cobbler a la mode, coffee, milk.

need of transportation, as well as those with extra room in their cars, may phone 3083-R or 565-J so arrangements can be made. In case of rain, the picnic will be held in the League room of the church.

Three Card Scouts To Hold Baseball Tryout School Here

Veteran Cardinal scouts Jerry Katherman, C. S. "Pop" Kelchner and John Brackenridge will be looking for another Red Schoendienst of Marty Marion when the St. Louis Cardinals conduct another of their famous tryout camps at State Hospital field in North Warren on July 21 and August 1.

Both Marion and Schoendienst, along with Enos Slaughter, Erv Dusak and Cloyd Boyer of the present team were signed by the Red Birds after having performed before scouts in tryout camps. At the camp in Warren, which is one of many such camps conducted throughout the county, Katherman, Kelchner and Brackenridge will be looking for the natural ability in the ball players which can be developed into the smooth perfection required in the majors. They will watch each aspirant go through his paces, noting particularly his catching, throwing, hitting and base-running. Those who are judged by the scouts to be future big league material will be signed to one of the 21 teams of the famed Cardinal farm system. There they will develop, through the top-notch coaching and invaluable experience of the minors, into veteran baseball players. The best of these will become the major league stars of tomorrow, where they will be more than amply rewarded for their previously expended effort.

The tryouts will begin at 11:00 each day for all interested between the ages of 17 and 23. All those who intend to attend are asked to bring their own gloves and shoes, as the Cardinals do not furnish this equipment.

PONY LEAGUE

By The Associated Press

The Jamestown Falcons defeated the Wellsville Senators 7 to 4 in the PONY baseball league last night, to gain revenge for their 25 to 12 beating Sunday against the same team.

The Bradford Phillies battered the league-leading Olean Oilers 11 to 5. Pitcher Frank Lawson went all the way for Bradford, with the help of first baseman Rudy Papparella who batted in five runs with a home run, triple and single.

The second place Hornell Dodgers also lost, and remain 1½ in back of Olean. Hornell bowed to the Batavia Clippers 12 to 7 with Bill Scholtz pitching the complete game for Batavia.

In the closest game of the evening, the Hamilton Cardinals, now in third place by a few percentage points, edged the Lockport Reds 3 to 2.

Games tonight: Jamestown at Wellsville, Bradford at Olean, Hamilton at Lockport, Batavia at Hornell.

Robinson Warned By Commission He Must Fight Basora

Scranton, July 18—(P)—Sugar Ray Robinson is likely to find himself suspended and fined in Pennsylvania today but whether the National Boxing Association concurs is another question.

Robinson announced yesterday after undergoing a physical check-up by a Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission doctor that he would not go through with a fight against Jose Basora here tomorrow night. The 15-round fight was for the Pennsylvania version of the middleweight crown, held by Robinson along with his world welterweight title.

The slim Harlem negro said he had a back ache. But Dr. Leonard M. Freda, commission physician, said he could find nothing wrong with Robinson after sending the boxer through an hour's workout and x-raying his back.

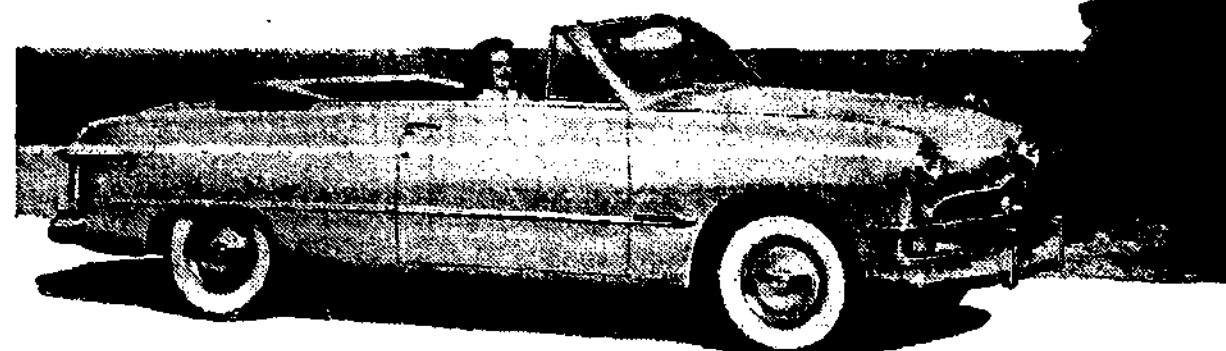

Chairman George Jones, Jr., of the commission stated before the examination that if Robinson didn't show up he would be given the heaviest fine ever assessed a fighter in Pennsylvania, suspended and sued for damages in behalf of the promoter and Basora.

Abe J. Greene of Paterson, N. J., commissioner of the NBA, said Robinson had told him last Saturday he would box Basora anytime after he defends his welterweight title against Charlie Frazier in Jersey City Aug. 9 for the Damon Runyon Cancer fund.

Greene said Sugar Ray claimed he caught a cold in his back recently while out with Walter Winchell, one of the sponsors of the charity bout for which he'll receive $1.

The commissioner said he didn't think the Pennsylvania Commission would want to interfere with a charity bout since Robinson has declared he'll willingly to fulfill the Scranton engagement at a later date.

Warren Shooters Place High In Meet At Altoona Range

The Warr-Penn Gun Club placed high up in the scoring brackets of the Western Pennsylvania 30 calibre matches held at the Altoona Rifle and Pistol Club's Fort Robert range over the weekend.

Warr-Penn's "Red" team with a total of 1052, was nosed out of first place by eight points, DuBois Team 1 having 1060. Warr-Penn "Blues" were in third place with a 1000 total.

Competition was unusually keen among the six western Pennsylvania areas represented and scores were higher than at any time since 30 calibre shooting was revived after the war.

The score fired by the local "Reds" was higher than that which won the Pennsylvania state championship in 1948. Paul Smetanka, of the "Red" team was high man for the day, firing 185 out of a possible 200.

This was one of the matches sponsored by the Pennsylvania Rifle and Pistol Association and was fired with the Garand M-1 and Springfield military rifle as issued by the director of civilian marksmanship.

The course of fire consisted of ten shots off-hand, five shots kneeling, and five shots in sitting position, all slow fire at 200 yards; ten shots rapid fire sitting, at 200 yards, and ten shots rapid fire prone at 300 yards.

The next match in the series is scheduled for firing on the DuBois municipal range on August 11.

Phalanx Fraternity Tops K. of C., 15-8

Gerry Huber slammed out four for four in a Church "Y" Softball League contest at Beatty Field last night to lead the Phalanx Fraternity to a 10 to 3 victory over the K. of C.

It was Gus Rossman on the mound all the way for the winners, allowing only seven hits, while Aumer was nicked 15 times for the Knights.

Sonny Andersen wielded the other big stick for the Phalanx, hitting two for four. Aumer clouted a homer for the losers in the eighth.

For Autumn Harvest Sow Early Vegetable Varieties

Frost improves the flavor of broad-leaved endive.

Quickest maturing vegetable is the early radish which matures in 20 days; and slowest are winter onions which require 115 days.

Between these extremes are other vegetables, which may take 30, 40, 60 or 80 days to reach the size and quality which best fits them for table use.

In the early spring, these maturity dates are of less significance than later. Early varieties should always be sown for an early harvest, but the late ones also should be sown for fall and winter use.

As summer advances, however, maturity dates become more important, and before sowing any crop the gardener should make sure it has time to mature before winter sets in.

Seed catalogues usually give the maturity date for each variety listed. From your local weather bureau you can ascertain the average date of the first killing frost in your vicinity. Compare these two, and you can easily avoid crops which have no chance to develop fully before winter comes.

Until June 15, however, there are few vegetables which cannot be sown with good chances of a crop. Long season crops are lima beans, broccoli, cabbage, celery, collards, cucumbers, egg plant, kale, leek, onion, parsley, parsnips, peppers, New Zealand spinach, rutabaga, salsify, squash, Swiss chard and tomatoes. After June 15, these may be risky.

Cauliflower and brussels sprouts are fall crops, and seeds should always be sown late.

There are two salad crops which are at their best in the fall—endive and Chinese cabbage. Chinese cabbage which matures in 90 days is difficult to grow in the summer, because it runs to seed, but in the short days of autumn, it makes beautiful, elongated heads of crisp leaves having a suggestion of cabbage flavor which are delicious cooked or raw.

Vegetable crops which should not be sown in June include peas, early radishes, lettuce and spinach. All these require cool weather, and you may sow very early kinds in August, so they will mature in the autumn. Sweet corn is a crop for late sowing. Early kinds may be put in as late as July 1, and the finest corn is often produced by late sowing.

Quick maturing crops include snap beans, beets, carrots, endive, lettuce, kohlrabi, turnips, spinach, peas and radishes. The later you sow, the "earlier" should be the variety you sow.

Extremes in Final Scores Mark Sunset Baseball League Scraps

Two extremes on final scores were registered in Sunset Baseball League games last night.

Warren Merchants drubbed Tiona by the lop-sided margin of 16-1 at Jackson field, while at the State Hospital field, Conewango Township Merchants edged past Suppa Studebakers by a 2-1 count.

Hammond Iron also continued its hot pace in the second half league campaign by nipping the sons of Italy, 2-1, on Memorial field.

A 10-run spurge on seven hits, three walks and an error in the fourth inning put the Warren Meres away out in front.

Dick Kifer started on the hill for the Merchants and allowed only two hits in three innings. Dick Christensen then took over and pitched no-hit ball for the next three innings. Ken Lane and Ed Wollaston shared mound duty for Tiona.

Don Sharp and Monk Murphy each had a pair of doubles for the winners while Bob Hammerbeck, Danny O'Shura and Dick Kifer also smacked two-base wallops.

The linescore:
Warren 221 1010—16 15 0
Tiona 001 000—1 2 4

A pitching duel all the way between Gray for the winners and Abplanalp for the losers highlighted the match between Conewango Merchants and Suppa Studebakers. Gray whiffed seven batters, issued two walks, and allowed three hits. Abplanalp had two strikeouts, walked four men and also was nicked for three safeties.

Suppa got their lone tally in the third frame. Conewango tied up the score with a single run in the sixth frame, and added the clincher in the final frame when Freeborough singled, went to second on a wild throw by Gray and scored on a single by Haight.

Conewango evened the score in the sixth when Gray singled, stole second, and went home on an error. The clincher for Conewango came in the last frame. Swanson started it off with a single and went to second on a wild pitch. Brumagim fanned. Harold Gnage slapped a single to right to plate Swanson.

The linescore:
Suppa 001 000 0—1 2 1
Conewango 000 001 1—2 3 1
Umpires—Massa and Casey.

The Hammond Iron-Sons of Italy clash on Memorial field was another thriller. Sons of Italy counted their lone run in the third frame. Hammonds, following the same pattern as Conewango Merchants, evened the count in the fifth frame with a single marker, and added the clincher in the next frame.

Kerchner went all the way for Hammonds, striking out eight men, walking one, and giving up five safeties. Smith, Sons of Italy moundsman, struck out four batters, walked two, and yielded only four hits.

Kerchner and Reese for the Ironmen, and White for the Sons of Italy were credited with the three R.B.I.'s.

Griffin had the only extra base blow, a double, for Hammonds.

The linescore:
Sons of Italy 001 000 0—1 5 0
Hammonds 000 011 x—2 4 1

Brooklyn—Tony Janiro, 152½; Youngstown, O., outpointed Solly Levitt, 153½, New York (8).

Elizabeth, N. J., Artie Diamond, 164½, New York, outpointed Joe Fernandez, 154½, Jersey City (8).

Meanwhile, the Jake Lakotta-Tiberio Mitteri middleweight championship battle, to be held in Madison Square Garden two days later, July 12, is what Hymie Lewin, demon box office expert, diagnoses as anemic.

Young Bill Johnston, promoter of the grappling program, tops his card with Antonio Rocca, current idol of the mat fans, against Don Eagle, scarp-jockeyed 23-year-old Canadian Indian, in a finish combat. The word "match" in connection with wrestling is taboo by rule of the N. Y. State Athletic Commission, which defines wrestling bouts as exhibitions.

The rest of the program will include such drawing cards as Primo Carnera, former heavyweight boxing champion; Gene (Mr. America) Stanley, Lord Carlton, Yvon Robert and Ernie Dusek—all headliners in their own right.

Bill Johnston, son of the fabulous Jimmy who ranked as one of America's top sports promoters, attributes the remarkable renaissance of wrestling to the policy adopted by the promoters—"The public be pleased."

"No matter what its traducers say, they've got to admit that modern wrestling is thrilling and exciting, and that it pleases the spectators," says Bill. "There are the humorous sides, too, and I've yet to hear a customer complain that he didn't get his money's worth at a wrestling show. You can't say the same thing about boxing."

Young Bill has something to say about it. Come to think of it, he's not so young. He is William Johnston, son of the late father, who taught him much about the ins and outs of promoting.

CHICAGO—(NEA)—A baseball man who should have considerably better than a rough idea of what is going on tells us not to be surprised if Charles Walter Dresen is named manager of the White Sox this fall.

Chuck Dresen is a tremendous hit in Oakland, where he succeeded Casey Stengel when the latter moved in at Yankee Stadium. The inimitable Stengel enjoyed unparalleled popularity with the Oaks, won the Pacific Coast League pennant and play-offs. He was a tough man to follow.

Dresen did not suffer in comparison, however, running second last trip. The Acoms are expected to win this time, and what is even more important, the attendance is up, where it is down in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Hollywood.

Dresen is highly regarded by general manager Frank Lane of the Chicago Americans. They were with the Reds together for four years, Dresen managing while the championship club of 1939-40 was being built.

Clarence L. Laws visited Chicago for the express purpose, among other things, of giving Lane a sales talk regarding Dresen, whom he feels belongs as a head man in the majors.

THE motion picture theater magnate who owns the Oakland franchise packs a lot of tonnage, happens to be a nice guy for a big league official to know in the fertile Coast League.

Naturally, Laws is also making an earnest endeavor to peddle his Negro shortstop, Artie Wilson, to the White Sox at a price commensurate with the high cost of ivory today.

Wilson easily could put another jewel in the Pale Hose infield, alongside Chico Carrasquel. A real swifty, he led the Coast League in batting in 1949 with 330 and is currently hitting the same.

He could be a magnetic attraction on the south side. Laws will sell the Comiskey people Wilson and throw Dresen in. He sold outfielder Jackie Jensen and infielder Billy Martin to the Yankees, picked up problem child Dick Wakefield's $17,000 tab when the Yanks and White Sox and all other big league outfits wanted no part of it.

Laws also sent Casey Stengel to the Yankees.

His putting Chuck Dresen in Comiskey Park would make Brick Laws something of a maker of major league managers.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

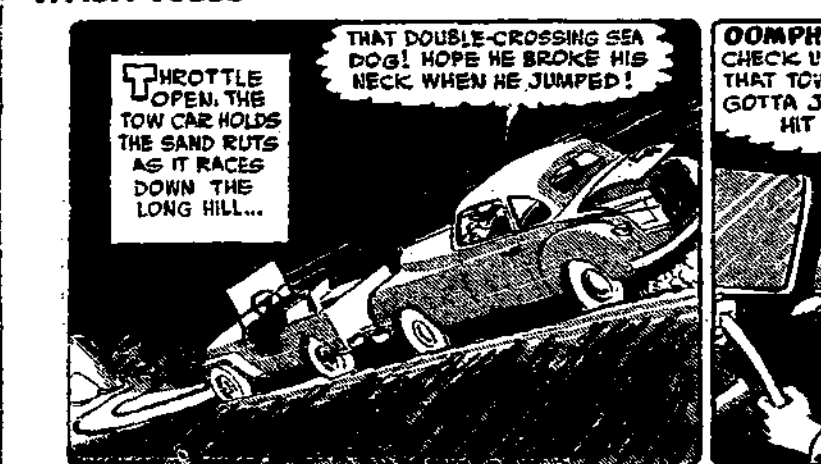

DECEPTION PLAY HITS 730-POINT JACKPOT
BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Some deceptive plays cannot cost anything and may gain quite a good deal. Here is an example of such a play, taken from a recent team-of-four match.
In the first room, when the six of hearts was led, East played the ace of hearts, winning the first trick. He then returned the queen of hearts, and South allowed him to win. East continued with his Having taken the first trick, declarer went after the diamonds. Larceny Lou won with the king of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts and led a heart to his partner. This defense set the contract one trick.

The score in the first room was plus 630 for North-South. The score in the second room was minus 100 on the same cards. Larceny Lou's little deceptive play was worth 730 points!
Incidentally, you don't have to be an expert to use this play. You get the situation fairly often, and conducted by the president of the Circle, Mrs. Merle See, who read many of the beautiful promises found in the Bible. The afternoon was spent out of doors, with a fine picnic dinner served on the lawn. A report was given that the box for the Girls' School in the African Congo had been sent. The August meeting will be held with Mrs. Bertha Dyer, Mrs. Mable Bowland as program leader.

Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Price are spending a short time with Rev. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Price, at Lottville. Rev. Price has completed a seminary course in Chicago and has been a pastor in the Illinois Conference. He has recently been transferred to the Erie Conference, which is near his home, and which he will attend when it meets this autumn. The Prices have relatives and friends in Youngsville, who are glad to welcome them back to this vicinity.

SCHOOL BOARD
Principally routine affairs are to come before the board of education at its regular July session at the high school building at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

CASES CONTINUED
Illness of a witness forced continuation of civil cases scheduled for trial yesterday until Thursday at 10 a. m. The jury was recalled by Judge Wade for that time.

BUM RUSHED
A panhandler, working in the 200 block of Pennsylvania Avenue, west, yesterday disappeared before police could give him the rush. Somebody must have told him the law was on the way.

BOY SOUGHT
An east side boy, who shot out a car window with a BB rifle on July 6, and who agreed to pay damages, has not yet done so. Police will point out to him the error of his ways.

SCALP WOUND
Melvin Rhoades, of Pittsfield, was given emergency treatment at Warren General Hospital yesterday for a scalp laceration sustained when he fell at a service station on the Warren-Sheffield road. Five sutures were required to close the cut. He was discharged following treatment.

JAYCEES' MEETING
The July meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held at the YMCA at 8 p. m. Wednesday, when the membership will hear a report of the celebration committee, the program for the coming year will be discussed and new committees will be formed. Arrangements are being made to show ten reels of colored movies of the parade and drum corps competition.

OLD HOME DAY PLANS
Announcement comes from Mrs. Julia Wilson, secretary, that the annual Kellethville Old Home Day will be held July 29, with the assemblage in the beautiful church grove. There will be music and speaking and a general good time for all attending. The committee asks that all old timers be on hand to meet their friends and join in the fun.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Two marriage licenses were issued at the office of Recorder Don Schuler in the Court House yesterday. They went to Joseph James Fitzsimmons, of Warren, and Virginia Dawn Studer, of Erie; and to Donald Archer Tonger and Maybelle Louise Ecklund, both of Randolph, N. Y. The latter couple was married at the Court House by Deputy Recorder Eleanor F. Smith.

WILL NOT RESIGN
Alderman John Curtis, of Erie, has indicated that he will not resign his post as result of two charges of extortion placed against him Saturday by the district attorney's office. Curtis said he feels any man is "innocent until proven guilty," and added "I don't think I've done anything wrong." County Detective John L. Coates preferred the extortion charges on the basis of two cases in which he claims Curtis overcharged clients of his office. The arrest followed the alleged acceptance by Curtis of $50 in marked money prepared by Coates and used by an Erie woman to pay aldermanic court fees to the 4th ward alderman.

CAR-TRUCK COLLIDE
Police were called to Fourth and Chestnut at 1:10 p. m. yesterday when a car operated by James Madden, Jr., 215 Parker street, and a truck operated by Russell Freeman, of Pittsfield, collided. Damage was minor, but Madden received a severe scalp laceration requiring 9 sutures. He was treated at Warren General Hospital and discharged. According to the police report, Madden was proceeding north on Chestnut street and the truck west on Fourth.

NEW VACCINE
Of interest to dairymen and farmers is the report that a new vaccine, tested in Michigan, for controlling Bang's disease may mean a new era for cattle farmers. The vaccine, Brucella M., developed at the Michigan State College, has been used in that section and reports are that dairymen are enthusiastic over its results. It has not yet been licensed for interstate sale as tests are being reviewed by the U. S. Department of agriculture.

Clarendon Planning Kiddies Parade On Friday, July 28th

At last night's regular meeting of the Clarendon Old Home Week committee, held in the Veterans' Home, sponsors of the celebration, the VFW Post 314 and the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department outlined the final details for the Kiddies' Parade, which is designed as one of the outstanding features of the affair.

Expected to be one of the really big events of the entire celebration week, the Kiddies Parade is scheduled for Friday, July 28, and is under the direction of Lloyd Knight, David Eshelman and Marion Walker.

Cash prizes and merchants' gift certificates will be awarded to the best marching units, musical organizations, comic units, floats and pets.

The committee emphasized that any youngster under the age of 14 years will be eligible for participation and that all entries will receive free carnival-ride tickets for the Saturday matinee.

Any child from the county, or other nearby communities, is eligible to take part in the parade simply by filling out the coupon that is printed elsewhere in this edition.

Lloyd Knight, chairman, makes a special appeal to all organized groups of the county, including Cub Scouts, Brownie Scouts, School Safety Patrols, musical units and Hot Store League teams.

Program Director At YWCA Resigns

At the July meeting of the YWCA board of directors, held Monday evening, members received with genuine regret the resignation of Mrs. McCurtis Allison as program director.

Cece, as she quickly became known to members of all age groups, has very ably handled the Y-Teen program for the past two years, building up its various clubs and increasing all its activities.

She has recently served as director of the most successful camp period the Y-Teen department has ever enjoyed, supervising 100 campers and a staff of 24 persons. She has also been a Red Cross swimming instructor for Y-Teens at the YMCA pool on Thursdays.

A great deal of time has been devoted to planning of special events of interest to young people and increasing participation of the several age groups represented in her department.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Mrs. Julia MacLachlan, St. Petersburg, Fla., is here to spend the week with Dr. and Mrs. Paul B. Stewart, Market street.

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long

Chapter 19

AMEDEE gave up. "All right, Tante," he said, patting her hand reassuringly. "I'll keep the sword, if that's what you want."

"Do you think she knows anything, Dédé?" I asked when we had left her.

"It's hard to tell," he answered. "Probably she merely found the sword somewhere, and invented the rest. Once she gets going on one of those sprees of imagination . . . But if we don't soon learn something about Uncle Raoul, I'll have another try at her."

We didn't learn anything about Uncle Raoul, either that day or that night. The following morning the men—with the exception of Lee, who complained of feeling ill, and Lewis Haye, of course, who was not a relative—went in to New Orleans to attend funeral services for Claude.

Bobby and I had planned originally to leave the following day; but at Pick's entreaty, we agreed to stay on until Uncle Raoul had been found, or at least heard from.

"Your father's all right, Pick. I'm sure of it," I said although I wasn't.

"Why didn't he leave a message, explaining what he was going to do?"

"I maybe he did leave a note," Bobby suggested with such inspiration, and nobody found it. Anyway, we might try looking for one now."

I was still searching when Lewis Haye came in.

"Aunt Delphine's teeth again?" he inquired whimsically, seeing that I was looking for something.

"No," I answered. "Bobby thought that Uncle Raoul might have left a note before he went away, but there doesn't seem to be any." Then I told Mr. Haye what do you think might have happened to him?

"I don't know, Miss Peter," he replied gravely. "But I'll admit in beginning not to like the look of it. Mr. Raoul wasn't the man to go off voluntarily without letting us family know."

"Did I disturb you, chérie?" she asked. "I'm sorry. I only wanted to be sure that you were all right."

"Yes, of course I'm all right, Aunt Delphine," I said, trying not to sound annoyed. "Why shouldn't I be?"

"He came for Lee tonight," she said. "I'm sorry it had to be. Lee was a nice boy."

I was out of bed at that.

"No!" I exclaimed sharply. "Aunt Delphine, you're imagining things. Lee isn't—"

"I'll show you, chérie," she said. "Come."

I followed her into the hall. Lee's bedroom door was standing open, and through it I saw . . .

The sword lay with its blade still touching the slashed wrist. I backed away from the horror of that blood-soaked counterpane. Bobby was just behind me, and this time she wasn't able to swallow her scream.

Pick's door opened farther along the hall.

"What's the matter?" she asked. "Who?"

"Why do you speak of him in the past tense?" I caught him up. "Do you think that something may have happened to him? Something—tragic?"

"Unconscious thought betrayal, I suppose," he admitted with a faint smile. "Unless . . ."

"Unless what?" I demanded impatiently.

"Nothing in particular," he hedged. "I was merely thinking of the accident possibility, I suppose."

I looked him straight in the eye. "You're talking about what you were really thinking?" I asked.

"All right, if you want it that way," he said resignedly. "Haven't you thought, Miss Peter, that Beau is suspiciously reluctant to do anything about his father's disappearance?"

"Just what do you mean by that?" I demanded.

"I hate like the very devil to say this," he began with evident reluctance. "But I can't help remembering that under the terms of Colonel Dumont's will, Claude's share in the estate goes to Mr. Raoul. If anything happens to him, his share—plus Claude's—will come to Lee and Beau."

"It's good Pick didn't hear you say it," I remarked nastily. "or you'd be in the dog-house even worse than you are now."

He flushed painfully at that, and I felt a little ashamed of myself.

"By the way," I asked, remembering that he had come from upstairs. "how is Lee? Is he feeling any better?"

"I'm afraid not," he answered. "I wanted to send for a doctor, but he wouldn't hear to it. So I mixed him a bromo, and advised him to get some sleep."

"Just what seems to be the matter with him?" I inquired.

"Worried over his father, I suspect," he replied.

THE telephone rang, and Pick came running downstairs to answer it. A minute or two later, she came across the hall.

"That was Beau calling," she announced. "He says it looks as though there's a storm coming up, so he and the others are going to wait in New Orleans until it's over."

"Did he have any news of your father?" Lewis Haye inquired.

"No," she answered coldly. "There was no news."

It soon became evident that the storm which Beau had mentioned was not going to confine itself to New Orleans. Within half an hour after he had phoned, the sky became black; the wind began to whistle through the trees, sweeping all loose objects before it and whipping the oleanders and other shrubbery flat against the ground.

Finally the electric light company gave up the ghost, the way rural electric light companies have a habit of doing at such times, and we were obliged to eat supper by candlelight.

"I don't believe the men will be able to get back tonight," Bobby said, staring out into the sudden blackness. "Even if the rain does stop, the roads will be too slippery for the cars to travel."

Pick went over and stood beside her.

"It looks as though you're right, Bobby," she agreed. "I guess we'll have to hold the fort alone tonight."

Lewis Haye, who had been reading at the far end of the room, looked up from his book.

"Would you like me to move into the house for tonight, Pick?" he inquired.

"That won't be necessary," she answered without so much as turning her head. "My brother Lee is here." Her tone seemed to add, "And even flat on his back, he's still a better man than you are."

Lewis Haye flushed, and returned to his book; but not long after that, he rose and went out to the garçonnère.

I don't know why we should all have felt it necessary that the house be locked more thoroughly that night than any other, but somehow we all did. But had we locked it out? I wasn't so sure. Rather, it seemed as though it had slipped in regardless of bolts and locks. But it wasn't until midnight that it struck.

Then he crossed to where Pick was standing.

"Pick, dearest, come away," he urged. "You mustn't stay here."

Bobby called suddenly from the hall.

"Peter, come here!" Her voice sounded oddly imperative.

I hurried out to her. "What is it?" I asked.

"It's Aunt Delphine," she answered. Her eyes were big with horror. "Listen to what she's saying!"

"Only three left. Only three. Then only two, then only one. My boy—my boy Dédé will get everything." There was actual gloating in her voice now.

"Aunt Delphine," I began, speaking slowly and distinctly. "do you know who killed Lee?"

A look of craft came into the faded gray eyes, and she beckoned for me to bend closer.

"What does she say?" Bobby wanted to know.

"Something about Dédé and what sounded like 'Loup,'" I replied, discouraged. "Bobby, I don't believe she knows anything."

JUST then Lewis Haye appeared in the doorway.

"I've managed to make Pick go to her room," he began. "One of you had better stay with her while I—"

He broke off, evidently stopped by something in our expressions.

"What's wrong?" he demanded.

We told him what Aunt Delphine had been saying, and were startled by the look of alarm that leaped into his eyes. He crossed quickly to where Aunt Delphine sat.

When she had raised startled eyes to his face, he spoke to her in rapid French, in which I could distinguish only the words. Amédée and tuer—to kill. Aunt Delphine covered, quivering. "Non, non, non!"

Lewis Haye straightened, and turned back to Bobby and me.

"That ought to hold her," he said. "What did you say to her?" I demanded indignantly.

"I told her that if she didn't stop prattling about Amédée's inheritance his grandfather's estate the sheriff would think he'd killed them, and arrest him for murder."

"But—but," I stammered. "surely no one would pay any attention to her, especially when she adds that part about the Loup Garou."

Jeff Wilkes might, he said. When he finds out about Lee, he's going to try to call it murder if he possibly can."

"Going to try?" Bobby and I repeated together.

Lewis Haye was staring at us strangely.

"I don't don't either of you believe that it actually was?" he exclaimed.

"Mr. Haye," I began, trying to keep my voice on an even keel. "if Lee wasn't murdered, then how did he die?"

"Oh!" I gasped at his meaning suddenly dawned upon me. "You think that he—committed suicide?"

He nodded with evident reluctance.

"I know that's as hard to take as the other," he said. "Maybe even more so. But considering the circumstances I'm afraid there's no other explanation."

The doors and windows were all locked and bolted. I saw you and Pick attending to that from m. windows in the garçonnère. That means no one could have got in from the outside. And there was no one here but you three and Miss Delphine."

"But why?" Bobby asked, taking the question practically out of my mouth.

"That's something we can't be sure of," he answered gravely. "Although we can make some fairly reasonable guesses. Lee was always a neurotic type—some times almost to the point of emotional unbalance."

"He means," Pick spoke unexpectedly behind him, "that Lee believed I had killed Claude, and that Father thought so too, and that was why he went away—so that the sheriff would suspect him instead of doesn't matter, Lewis," she went on as he tried to stammer a denial. "And now you'd better go down and telephone for the sheriff."
